COMMUNITY LARDER: INDIAN QUEENS & DISTRICT

We are open in St Francis Church, Indian Queens every Tuesday from 10am to 11am, to assist households in St Enoder through the financial crisis. We can provide weekly food bags to households struggling with the steep rise in living costs. We may be able to deliver if you do not have transport, or anyone available to collect for you.

In addition to this we give out surplus food from our Co-op to anyone who can use it, this saves it going in the bin. You do not have to be in need to collect this food, just bring a bag & make a small donation if you can. Several kind people bring in local eggs & veg, which we also share out after the food bags have been made up. We are happy to receive food donations.

The mobile Community Larder, which is a separate organisation, visits the Victory Hall car park, Indian Queens, every Thursday from 11.30am to noon. They also share out surplus food to anyone – just come along & bring a bag.

Down The Garden

It has been a great month for us working on several local projects. We are particularly excited to have completed stage 1 of building the Fontana Tranquillity Garden at Cornwall Hospice Care in St. Austell, supported by Contec SW, Hutton Hire, Dial-a-digger, PPP Installations, CHG Adapt and Fontana Garden.

We have replaced and extended the main patio making it accessible for several beds and created a smaller intimate patio. In the next week we will be working, supported by volunteers to plant the surrounding areas.

The first part of phase 2 is complete with the foundations of the tree top room, and in the next few weeks the building will be re-erected ready for the official opening. Kim, the designer says “I am passionate about the power of nature and the support and comfort it can provide. Together, Derek and I, have worked to produce this very special gift.

The garden will offer quiet contemplation and feature a treetop outside room, two intimate seating areas and a beautiful pond with running water. For patients with more limited mobility the garden can be seen from bedrooms and the patient lounge.

Gina Starnes, the Hospice Charity Director, says “We’re extremely humbled by Derek Bishop’s generous donation of the garden to our Hospice where it will offer a place of solace and comfort for our patients, their families and our staff and volunteers.”

Kim continues, “We believe it is an amazing opportunity to help people at a difficult time of their lives.”

We are sadly fast approaching the end of the garden shows with just the Malvern Autumn Show but it’s an amazing show to finish the season with. Although autumn is approaching there are lots of jobs left to do in the garden.

Jobs for September

- Continue to maintain your baskets and tubs; feeding, dead heading and watering can ensure they continue until mid-autumn.
- Prune back any perennials that are fading and dying down. Any good clumps can now be divided too. This will help improve the shape and flowering for next year.
- Dig up any remaining potatoes before slugs damage them.
- Net ponds before too many leaf’s start to fall.
- Take cuttings from tender perennials such as Osteospermum and Pelargonium. If you don’t have a greenhouse grow them on the windowsill.
- Start to protect any tender perennials but wait until the first frosts to hit dahlias or cannas.
- The growth on your lawn should be starting to slow down. Think about scarifying and aerating before applying a top dressing. This will help prepare your lawn for the winter.
- Autumn is a good time to apply a weed killer to perennial weeds as they are more vulnerable in the autumn. By using a glyphosate-based product it will penetrate into the roots as well as killing the top growth.
- Start buying and planting spring flowering bulbs.
- Sow sweet peas for an early crop of flowers next year but ensure they don’t become too wet.
- Now is an ideal time of year to create new lawns either from turf or seed.
